DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is responsive to the application filed on December 21, 2001.
2. Claims 1-27 are presented for examination.

Election/Restrictions

3. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

Group I. Claims 1-18: A disc-shaped optical record carrier, which comprises first storage area and a second storage area, one of them is assigned a readable area and the other is assigned a read only area, etc., are classified in class 369 (Dynamic Information Storage or Retrieval), subclass 275.1+ (Storage Medium Structure, Pit/bubble/groove structure specifies); at subclass 47.1+.

Group II. Claims 19-27: a data updating method comprising the steps of: storing basic data in one of first and second areas which has been assigned the read only area, and storing data relating to the basic data in one of said first and second area which has been assigned the recordable area, etc., are classified in class 717 (Software Development, installation and management), subclass 170+ (plural version management).

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are not disclosed as usable together and have different functions. Inventions I and II are direct to different subject matters as such dynamic information storage or retrieval, and software upgrading/updating.

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required of Group I and II do not require the same search as required for the other groups, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
